The WEEK

By A. M. Brayton

RATIFICATION of the Colombian treaty featured the week's news touching international relations. People who look at this merely from the standpoint of taxation have missed a great point in the national welfare. Despite Theodore Roosevelt's practical admission of high-handedness, there are those who insist that we commit ourselves to international law, but even though we admit that the question of our conduct is open, the wisdom of the treaty and payment seems apparent. The fact that South American people much as a whole believe in the San José legal hands upon South American territory, and therefore holds us in distrust, is of vast importance to us. If we expect to maintain a pan-Americanism which will stand with us back of the Monroe doctrine, and in general a unification of American interests, we must have to the fullest extent the confidence and good will of the Latin republics to the south. This treaty, with its confession of error and its belated restitution, should do much to restore our lost faith and damaged prestige.

The appointment of John J. Esch to the interstate commerce commission was ratified by the senate with three dissenting votes, two of them cast by democrats, and the other by Senator La Follette, who made a speech in opposition. As one of the authors of the new railroad law, Mr. Esch will be especially interested in helping to make it "work."

Many developments are proceeding along the line of railway relief and improvement. The rail labor board announced that the war-time agreements would be terminated July 1, and directed management and labor to get together and work out new rules applicable to changed conditions.

Southern roads which reduced wages without consulting the rail labor board were again told that they were out of court, and the employees were advised to resubmit the case to the board.

Attorneys for the Brotherhoods made a detailed statement of alleged waste due to railroad mismanagement, aggregating a billion dollars a year. They also charged that great business interests, building their plans for disaster about the railroad situation.

It was also charged that in attempting to show a deplorable condition of the railroads, the managers always cited the weaker and less prosperous roads. Attention is called, on the other hand, to a stock dividend issued by the Delaware & Lackawanna, one of the most prosperous roads, which amounted to forty-five millions and was but half of the road's surplus.

In a current magazine article Senator Cummings, jointly responsible with Mr. Esch for the present railroad law, broadly hinted that there is much more in the assertion that waste is largely accountable for the bad condition of the roads, and the senate's action for a congressional investigation of the whole subject was adopted during the week.

In this connection it will be recalled that some ten years ago Justice Brandeis of the supreme court of the United States, following an exhaustive inquiry, declared that American railroads were wasting a million dollars per day by poor operation. The increased cost of everything going into the business considered, Brandeis' statement about railroads with that of the Brotherhoods.

Senator La Follette has re-introduced his railroad bill, tabled during the last regular session to make way for the Esch-Cummings bill. It provides for unification under a single corporation, proposing immense savings by cutting out duplication of service and other losses of competition. It fixes railroad earnings at not more than 5 1/2 per cent, all excess earnings to be divided as follows: To labor, 40 per cent; to capital, 20 per cent; to government, 20 per cent. The idea here is to make it profitable to the workers to be efficient. Capital, labor, the government, the farmers and business in general would be given places on the board of directors.

The news from day to day discloses a widespread feeling in political, business and labor circles that we have had disposed of our railroad problem, and out of the disposition to do something it appears probable that new ground will be broken.

Gary, head of the United States Steel, has urged that government regulation of business be attempted. The underlying thought is that the government would regulate labor unions, which he charges are responsible for excessive cost and inefficiency.

With the railroad and transport unions broken away from the miners, England's coal strike is still hanging on, though paralyzing of business is only partial, and is due only to lack of fuel. Re-opening of negotiations, with certain government concessions, was looked to hopefully as progress toward peace, but the miners' assertion that they "prefer to starve playing a harder game than to starve working" has a good sound.

RAIL GUARANTY DEATH, FARM TARIFF AND EASIER RURAL CREDITS FARMERS' PROGRAM

WASHINGTON.—Repeal of the guaranty section of the transportation act, reduction in rates, equal protection for agriculture under the tariff, and adequate credit facilities for agriculture was announced Saturday as the program which the American farm bureau federation will recommend to congress as an aid to farmers. The program was formulated by the executive committee of the federation after a two weeks' conference here.

Strong opposition was expressed to any sales tax, to repeal of the excess profits tax, and to any tariff on lumber and fertilizer. Another recommendation proposed the submission of a constitutional amendment prohibiting the issuing of all tax free securities as "more than $10,000,000,000 in securities now escape federal tax."

For Packer Regulation
The federation reaffirmed its stand for packer regulation vested in the department of agriculture and opposition to any federal excise tax on land. The attention of congress was called to the "unimportant and differing factors affecting food products from the American farm in their relationship to imports or like products from foreign countries, in considering the labor cost."

In making up the tariff law attention of congress also was directed to the "center of food production of the United States as being 'somewhere' in the Mississippi valley while the center of consumption is in the populous areas of the east 'many hundreds of miles away.' Ocean freight rates from competing countries to the consuming centers were declared to be lower than are the exorbitant and increasing freight rates from our farms to our own consumers."

Urge Rural Credit Progress
After setting forth that "recent experiences" have shown that the farmers are not "adequately financed" and that their welfare is jeopardized when they avail themselves of the present short time commercial credits the federation recommended legislation to provide proper authority for commodity and cattle financing and for personal rural credits secured by proper insurance features. It also asked that profits from the federal reserve banks be used as a revolving fund to provide working capital during the interim between requests for money and sales of the debentures.

Recommendation was made that such debentures be made eligible for sale in federal reserve banks or on the open market. Increase of the maximum amount which may be loaned to a single borrower from the federal land banks from $10,000 to $25,000 was suggested.

Earl Dunlap Ground to Death Under Engine of Mail Train; Truck Is Wrecked

ACCIDENT OCCURS ON THE CANNERY CROSSING

Victim Formerly Had Lunchroom in Onalaska

WEST SALEM, Wis.—Earl Dunlap, 30 years old, proprietor of Dunlap's Lunchroom, was instantly killed Saturday at 5:30 p. m. when the Ford truck he was driving was struck by Milwaukee passenger train No. 5 at the cannery crossing. Dunlap's body was decapitated, and both legs were severed.

Dunlap was going to the cannery factory for powdered milk. It is said the view of the trucks at the crossing near the West Salem Cannery company's plant is not clear and Dunlap is believed to have been unaware of the approach of the train until his truck was almost on the tracks. No. 5 does not stop at West Salem and as the crossing is near the village limits, the train was going at a good rate of speed, it is said.

Dunlap was ground under the wheels of the engine, the truck was jammed into a mass of wreckage and tossed to one side of the right of way.

Had Lunchroom in Onalaska
Dunlap formerly conducted a restaurant in Onalaska, in conjunction with the one here. He moved to this village about six months ago and devoted his entire time to the lunchroom. He is survived by his mother, wife and small child.

BRIAND-LLOYD GEORGE MEETING RESULTS IN PLAN FOR EXTENDING OCCUPATION

To Seize Ruhr Coal Basin and Impose Tax on Fuel Exports, Excess Profits Levy, to be Used for Reparations Account

GERMAN NOTE TO U. S. NOT RECEIVED

WASHINGTON.—Germany's new note to the United States on the reparations question had not arrived in Washington Saturday night, although press dispatches from Berlin said it was dispatched during the day.

Officials at the state department prior to receipt of the German note refused generally to discuss the reparations question.

One thing appears certain in connection with the reparations question so far as concerns Washington. That was that should a reply be considered necessary to the new German note the nature of the reply would be laid before the diplomatic representatives here of the allied governments before its dispatch. This course is known to have been followed in the case of Thursday's note to the Berlin government.

GOTHAMITE DECLARES LIGI MAN WHO STOOD BY "DEATH WAGON"

Positive in Identification of Seranton Suspect as Sharer in Wall Street Blast

SCRANTON, Pa.—The Ligi, arrested here last Tuesday on suspicion of complicity in the Wall Street explosion, was positively identified Saturday by a business man as the person he saw standing beside the horse and talking to the driver of the death wagon at the scene of the explosion just five minutes before it occurred.

Picked from Among Six
Ligi was picked from a line of six prisoners as the man he had seen. Two other men, brought from New York in an effort to identify Ligi, said he was not the man they had seen driving the wagon filled with explosives.

Ligi, when identified, was lined up with five other prisoners. The business man scanned all their faces closely, then stopped within two feet of Ligi, looked at him closely, and exclaimed: "That is the man." Ligi stood calmly.

To Bring Other Witnesses
Department of justice agents expressed satisfaction with the day's developments. They said other persons would be brought from New York Monday in an effort to confirm Ligi's supposed connection with the disaster. It was pointed out that several persons interviewed by investigators following the blast mentioned seeing someone talking to the driver of the wagon shortly before the explosion. Some of these, it was considered probable, will be brought here.

The "business man" who identified Ligi was later discovered to be Thomas J. Smith of Brooklyn, employed in the legal department of an insurance company having offices in the New York financial district.

Saw Him Run Away
Smith picked out Ligi from a line of six prisoners as the man he had seen arguing with the driver of the death wagon shortly before the explosion. He later told newspapermen that a few moments later along Cedar street near Nassau street, and Broadway, urging two companions to hurry out of the neighborhood.

EXPECT FRESH GERMAN PROFFER

LYMPNE, England.—(By the Associated Press.)—It is Great Britain's intention to abide by the provisions of the agreement arrived at in Paris last January with reward to what steps should be taken to coerce Germany into meeting her reparations debt; she agrees that failure by Germany to meet her obligations in this respect should be met with further pressure.

This became known in the course of Saturday's meeting between Premier Briand and Premier Lloyd George, who came here to confer on the situation arising from Germany's stand on the reparations question and what it is he done if she continues her recalcitrant attitude.

Explains French Plans

M. Briand, at his own request explained to the British prime minister at a conference the French proposals for setting up an economic administration in part of Westphalia, including the Ruhr coal basin, should the Germans fail to pay the reparations due May 1. The proceeds of this administration, such as taxation on coal exports and excess profits duties levied on German industrial establishments, would, under the French plan, be placed in a pool out of which the reparations would be paid the allies.

Although Mr. Lloyd George doubtless was aware of the general character of the French plans from communications exchanged between the British and French foreign offices, M. Briand expressed the wish to explain personally some of the important features affecting the general policy of the allies, in order to attain complete unity of purpose.

French Hold the Floor

Saturday's conversations, therefore, began with a rather extended exposition of the French scheme by M. Briand and Philippe Berthelot of the French foreign office, with Mr. Lloyd George interrogating them.

The conversations were held in the black and gold room of the residence of Sir Philip Sassoon. Those present, in addition to the prime ministers, were M. Kanner, the official repository of many French state secrets, and Sir Maurice Hankey, secretary to the committee on imperial defense, Sir Philip Kerr, Robert G. Vansittart, and M. Sylvester, the latter four assisting Mr. Lloyd George.

After tea the premiers walked on the terrace, the foliage of which was dripping from the day's rain. They then tackled their task again in the black and gold room.

Expect Fresh German Offer

During the afternoon word reached Lymington from Berlin that the German cabinet was discussing fresh proposals, which it was reported might reach here before the conference breaks up Monday and Mr. Briand returns to Paris. M. Jaspard, the Belgian foreign minister, will visit London Tuesday to discuss the reparations matter with Mr. Lloyd George.

Speaking last night to the United States government that it be the intermediary between the Germans and allies, Premier Briand said:

"To hear this gives me pleasure, because if the Washington government forwarded Germany's proposals it would doubtless make itself responsible for their execution."

Explain Trial Delays

BERLIN.—By The Associated Press.—The German government has addressed a note to the conference of ambassadors, explaining that a number of technical reasons, such as the non-arrival of evidence from Italy and other causes, have been the cause of delay in the trial of those accused of war guilt.

Jewels Made by Nature's Method
There is a factory in the suburbs of Paris at which are made every day rubies, sapphires and other precious stones—not imitation stones, but real jewels, made of exactly the same materials as the natural ones and by the same process—heat and pressure—that Nature used for making hers. This was made possible by the scientists' discovery of means of producing intense heat. Needless to say, these stones are not manufactured to be sold as natural gems. They are used for the jewels of watches and chronometers and for the points of fine drills.

on the Mitchell motor is the Thermostat. This is a small compact and reliable piece of mechanism placed between the cylinder block and the radiator. Its duty is to produce efficiency quickly in a cold motor, thereby saving gasoline and increasing the life of the motor because of the short time it takes for a cold motor to "get under way." This is the way it operates: When the motor is started after standing for some length of time, the water commences to circulate, but around the cylinders only, not through the radiator, and when the water has attained a heat of 150 degrees, which it does in about four minutes the Thermostat automatically opens and water commences to circulate in the regular way through the radiator. This is an important feature which you should have on the car you select.

Well Known Man Very Seriously Injured, Restored to Perfect Health Through Chiropractic Adjustments.

STATE OF WISCONSIN, } ss
COUNTY OF LA CROSSE } ss
Fred A. Schaldach, being first duly sworn, deposes and says: That sometime during the month of July, 1918, I consulted A. G. Seover, a Chiropractor of La Crosse, Wisconsin, regarding a very serious personal injury.

- 1.—A loaded hay wagon had passed over my body (a) dislocating my right shoulder (b) causing several subluxations in the lumbar region of the spine, which laid me up so completely that I was unable to move (c) bruising and injuring the ligaments of my right foot and ankle very severely.
- 2.—That I was taken to the hospital immediately after the accident where my shoulder was set, but I obtained no relief otherwise.
- 3.—That on the advice of a Mr. Philip Wendling, a former patient of Dr. Seover's, I consulted with him on the above dates regarding my ailments. In the process of examination, said Chiropractor also found a place in my back which, for many years, had given me much pain, the result of an injury received while working in a stone quarry some forty-two years before.
- 4.—That after taking fifty (50) chiropractic adjustments, I was a perfectly well man in every respect and am today, and I am certainly most grateful to him for all he has done for me. What Was Spoiled?

SOMETHING over a year after the beginning of a hunt for the man responsible for annoying women in the east end of the city Central police station indignantly informed a reporter that publicity given to the most recent assault and a mass-meeting of warning for normal school girls "spoiled everything" the police were trying to do to catch the degenerate who has terrorized that district of the city. We would give a good deal to know what weighty secret plot for the apprehension of Jack-the-Hugger the printing of these plain and unadorned facts can have disarranged. Only on the absurd theory that the degenerate did not know that he attacked the young woman, and had attacked others, and was therefore unaware that his identity would interest the police can such a wildest protest be explained. The public, seems to be the police reasoning, must not be informed of a menace to its daughters for fear that a man who has committed a series of crimes may learn from the paper that these crimes have been committed, and be wary of capture. Now who supposes that Jack-the-Hugger has not known for more than a year that the police were, presumably, on his trail? No one, we submit, unless it may be Central Station. What would the police have a newspaper do—refuse to print news, news that will warn parents to take care of their daughters and warn girls to take care of themselves, and thus give the degenerate every opportunity to engage in new crimes until by some chance much luckier than ordinary he happens to be caught in the act? This seems to us poor strategy, particularly as we know of no case in which the police have been at the scene of an attack within half an hour from its occurrence, even when promptly notified. Under the circumstances it would seem that suppression of the news, while it might save the face of the police somewhat in view of their repeated failure to protect the citizens, could have no other effect than to encourage the vicious individual responsible, and give him better opportunities because of lack of caution among his victims. Unless stopped, this man is going to commit a desperate and dastardly crime eventually—he has been uncomfortably close to it more than once. The Tribune and Leader-Press has no mind to be even indirectly responsible for any share in such a horrible result, despite the wounds which public knowledge of the facts may inflict upon the tender feelings of the force. The citizens of La Crosse have a right to know of public menaces, and we propose that they shall.

Monuments to the Future

A CITY is but a collection of buildings, and of the people who live and work in them. But the character of the city and the type of its citizens is reflected in its buildings. If the buildings are old and worn and shabby, sterile and barren of architectural imagination and beauty, it is safe to conclude that the city is past its vigorous and progressive days. Unless it has a rebirth of spirit it is doomed to decay and retrogression. Its old buildings are links with its past, and the absence of new construction of modern types means that its past is more important than its future.

From this point of view La Crosse is not without its impression upon the visitor of growth and vigor. Such buildings as the Rivoli theater, for example, are to the newcomer symbols of strength and confidence and progress. There are many buildings on our streets that link us with our saw-mill beginnings, but shoulder to shoulder with them stand these others that envision the future. Together they speak of the steady advance from small beginnings which springs from a sturdy principle of growth, not a mushroom boom expansion, but healthy and continuous development.

The people of La Crosse should be conscious and proud of its handsome business buildings. They are monuments to individual ambition, work and thrift, but they are also monuments to the favorable conditions of the community which permit ambition and thrift to reap their rewards. And as for instance, strangers marveled at the Rivoli as "a wonderfully beautiful thing for a town this size" as we heard one say but recently, so should we be alert to recognize and assert its beauty as an asset of La Crosse, a proclamation of the spirit and strength of our town. Let not these prophets of our future be without honor in their own country.

High-Brows

IT would be a "woeful ballad" indeed that a lover might make now-a-days "to his mistress' eyebrow"—that thin, surprised eyebrow, dictated by fashion. "Delicately penciled" it may be, yet it gives the face an unfinished look as of a house constructed without eaves. We are told the style is changing, that soft shadowy brows will soon be in vogue. Alas, who can be sure that Nature will adapt herself to the styles and replace plucked brows! There are those who know too well her ways concerning broad waste spaces barren of hair.

Well—life's very brevity has its compensations. It is a little less than six hundred years since plucking the eyebrows was in vogue and bitterly railed at by satirists. There is a record of a holy hermit who saw in a dream his nephew's wife in purgatory: "The demons were pushing burning needles into her eyebrows. An angel told him that it was because she had trimmed her eyebrows and temples, increased her forehead and plucked out her hair, thinking to beautify herself and to please the world." Today the thought of immediately approaching years and the sight of young faces growing old, wrinkled and heavy under that unchanging look of fixed surprise is painful enough.

In these days of tight money, owners are discovering that the life of an automobile had been under-estimated.

CHURCH NEWS

Furnished by the Church News Association

The new Appled Christianity Board, of which General Leonard Wood is honorary president, announces for July and August a Church Method congress. It is claimed that this congress is the first ever to be held in America. The dates are the Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays, July 20 to August 26. Sessions will be morning and afternoon, with a public meeting each Friday evening. The congress will deal with method only—scientific management of people, money, land, buildings, organizations, public opinion, in relation to God and his cause. The topic will be "The Creed of the Candlestick"; that is, material things on which lights must be placed; when lighted, that all America may see them.

An active canvass is going on among Presbyterian commissioners to this year's general assembly, which meets at Winona on May 29. It is for the office of Stated Clerk, paying $6,000 a year and some allowances for expenses. Candidates are numerous, and they come for the most part from stated clerks of state synods. They include to date the Rev. Dr. J. M. Habbert, who is acting stated clerk, the Rev. Dr. Henry B. Mastor, of one of the Presbyterian boards, who served at Philadelphia last year when the veteran clerk now dead was sick, the Rev. Dr. William Carter, a pastor from Brooklyn, the Rev. Dr. William P. Fulton of Philadelphia, and the Rev. Dr. John P. Patterson of Orange. Friends of the last named are urging him upon commissioners, but so far as known he is not himself a candidate. He is stated clerk of the Synod of New Jersey.

No fewer than seventeen prominent Catholic church leaders, beginning with Cardinal O'Connell of Boston, will this year celebrate significant anniversaries. During May the Cardinal will observe the twentieth anniversary of his elevation to the episcopate, and in July Archbishop Messner, a leader among German Catholics of America, or those of German ancestry although now Americans all, will observe the same festival. Bishop Gabriels of Ogdensburg, now nearing eighty-three years of age, will mark his sixtieth year in the priesthood. Archbishop Glennon of St. Louis and Harry of Omaha, the last named with service in the Philippines to his credit, will observe their silver jubilees in Episcopal orders. Bishop Muldoon of Rockford has been twenty years in the episcopate, and during the last few years a leader in his church. With a few others, he led in the founding of the Catholic War Council, now changed to the permanent Catholic Welfare Council. Archbishop Dowling of St. Paul is to celebrate his thirty years in the priesthood, and the following named will observe anniversaries: Bishops Moerschbaert of Oklahoma; Grace of Sacramento; O'Dea of Seattle; O'Gorman of Sioux Falls; Corbett of Crookston; Thien of Denver; Kelley of Grand Rapids; Shinner of Spokane and O'Connell of Newark.

Through a Seamen's Church Institute, which the Episcopal church established in New York, and for which the finest building in the world devoted to the interests of men of the merchant marine has been erected, the religious body is rendering one of the most important and at the same time unique services ever rendered by a church to men. On the top of the great building named is a wireless station, and in the building a medical school. It was found that until recently few ships carried medicine chests, and even now not one ship in four carries a doctor. The institute furnishes a doctor, and by the aid of the wireless, he prescribes for sick sailors in every part of the world. By one ship relaying to another, no sick sailor is so far away at sea that he cannot get medical attention.

The Week in the Legislature

BY WM. J. ANDERSON

MADISON, Wis.—There is no doubt that the week in the legislature this week. The bill of the "wets" substitute amendment to the Madison dry bill in the senate and the defeat of every attempt to add an amendment except such as the drys wished was so carried out that it proved the anti-saloon league to be the best machine on the job. An attempt was made to invite the new prohibition commissioner to appear before the senate to advocate the substitute amendment, but the senate refused to invite. The amendment to the original bill which would have been the one Assemblyman Madison expressed a desire for, it passed from the bill, as passed by the assembly, the offensive inquisitorial features. The bill will go first to the finance committee, then back to the assembly for concurrence in the amendment, then to the governor for approval. It is now generally believed that Governor Blaine will sign the bill, notwithstanding his opposition to it. However, the situation may be explained this legislature is distinctly dry.

It has been suggested in some quarters that, inasmuch as he has shown himself out of sympathy with the main provisions of the Madison dry bill, the new state prohibition commissioner should resign if the bill becomes a law. This suggestion may become imperative later on, if the commissioner should continue to express objections to the measure.

Governor Blaine on Wednesday sent the name of Lewis E. Gattle to the senate, as a member of the railroad commission, to succeed John S. Allen. When the necessary time has expired, Gattle will be confirmed—at least this is the general impression. Gattle's record as secretary of the railroad commission for a number of years gave him so excellent a standing throughout the state that there is not likely to be any opposition to him.

The new teacher's retirement bill which has been prepared by the aid of the insurance actuaries was taken up in executive session in the senate committee on corporations Monday, and former insurance commissioner Blaine, who aided in drafting the bill, explained its provisions. The bill will be generally believed that it will become a law.

The Peterson bill, 479, A., which proposes to wipe out the present railroad commission and provide for a public utility commission will be up for hearing before the assembly committee on corporations and public utilities Tuesday next. Three bills affecting the railroad commission will be up at that time, it will be one of the most important hearings of the session.

The bill to pension judges, which has been the subject of the Wisconsin bar association, was taken up in executive session of the senate judiciary committee on Wednesday.

This morning in executive session the senate listened to insurance men plead for bill 421, which would require in the case of mutual insurance companies that a contingent premium in addition to the cash premium be required of members of these companies.

Senator Huber this morning introduced a resolution favoring Irish independence. There is little likelihood of a resolution getting through the legislature.

enjoy it." Samson broke in. "There'll be no farm work and Betsy and Josiah are old enough to be quite a help."

"How the girl is developing!" Abe exclaimed. "I believe she will look like him in a year or two."

Betsy was growing tall and slim. She had the blonde hair and fair skin of Samson and the dark eyes of her mother. Josiah had grown to be a bronzed, sturdy, good-looking lad, very shy and sensitive.

"There's a likely boy!" said Samson as he clapped the shoulder of his oldest son. "He's got a good heart in him."

"You'll spoil him with praise," Sarah protested and then asked as she turned to the young statesman, "Have you heard from him or any of the Kelseys?"

"Not a word, I often think of them."

"There's been a letter in the mail every night for a week or so, but we haven't heard a word from Harry or from them," said Sarah. "I wonder how they're getting along in these hard times."

"I told Jack to let me know if I could do anything to help," Samson assured them.

Sarah turned to Abe-Lincoln with a smile and said: "As we were coming through the village Mary Owens asked me to tell you that on account of the hard times she was not going to have a public wedding."

The chairman of the finance committee laughed and answered: "That old joke is still alive. She writes me now and then and tells me what she is doing in the way of preparation. It's really a foolish little thing we have been playing in—a kind of courtship to avoid marriage. We have gone too far with it."

A bit later he wrote a playful letter to Mary and told her that there was so much flourishing about in carpenter and the like in Springfield he could not recommend it to a lady of good sense as a place of residence. He said that owing to certain faults in his disposition he could not recommend himself as a husband; that he felt sure she could never be happy with him. But he manfully offered to marry her as soon as his circumstances would allow if, after serious consideration, she decided that she could accept him. It was, on the whole, one of the most generous acts in the history of human affairs.

There is no evidence that Mary was displeased with these other times in the little drama and presently running down the curtain. Some of the spectators were informed by her that Abe-Lincoln was crude and awkward and without a word to please a lady of her breeding. But she had achieved the credit, with certain people, of having rejected a young man for whom great honors were thought to be in store.

Late in November Mr. Lincoln went on the circuit with the distinguished John F. Stuart who had taken him into partnership. His letter to him bears an endorsement on its envelope as follows:

Steel was unknown until after the twelfth century in Europe. About one-fifth of the total rainfall is carried into the ocean.

"Yes, it's bigger than Verne's," said Sarah.

Talks on Citizenship

By D. O. Kinsman Ph. D.

Professor of Economics, Lawrence College and Educational Director of Wisconsin Society for Civic and Economic Education.

Questions of general interest pertaining to civics and economics will be answered in these columns. Kinsman, Lawrence College, Appleton, Wisconsin.

THE TAX ON CORPORATIONS

For centuries the individual and the public service corporations in the state, the remaining 2 per cent being assessed by local assessors.

The law requires the state tax commission to assess the companies enumerated above. The wisdom of such a plan is apparent. It establishes uniformity of assessment throughout the state. The commission, being a body of experts, is much better qualified to determine the true value of the property than the various local assessors.

The law further provides that all these properties be assessed by the ad valorem system, that is according to value. But no set formula is given for ascertaining the value. The method to be pursued is left to the commission. Here's the rub. What shall be employed as the just measure of value? Shall it be the stocks? The bonds? The real estate? The tangible personal property? The franchise? Or shall it be a combination of two or more of them? Or shall it be all combined or shall other elements be added? and if so, what and how much weight shall be given each? Thus a very difficult task is set the commission. Whatever be its answer, there are those who would take issue. By its method, the commission fixed the assessed value of the public service corporations of the state for the year 1920 at $474,839,500. Of this amount, the railroads comprised $369,734,000.

The rate of taxation for the different classes of corporations varies. The railroads, street railways and associated light, heat and power companies are taxed at the average rate applied to general property throughout the state, while the rate applied to inter-district electric light and power, gas and waterworks companies not connected with street railways are assessed at the local rates on general property. This should not be. One or the other method should be employed. The legislature should make the change as recommended by the tax commission.

The tax upon public service corporations for 1920 amounted to $8,999,684.15 or about $9,000,000. Most of this goes directly to the support of the state government. However, in the case of certain classes of local companies, like street railways, light, heat and power companies, much of the tax is returned to the local units through which the properties extend.

Certain other corporations, such as banks, life, fire and accident insurance companies are also taxed and from these sources much revenue is turned into the treasury of the state. (One week from today Professor Kinsman will discuss "The Inheritance Tax.")

THINGS MUSICAL

THE most beautiful experience of the year was the Ganz concert Friday night. From the first Chopin number one had the exquisite sensation of relaxing into an experience of flawless beauty, the sort of thing one knows in the God-made arts but too seldom feels in response to the man-made ones. The answer one sends to the silver light on the river or the blue dusk over the hills one gave to Mr. Ganz' music.

Symmetry is the secret of Rudolph Ganz' art. If one can dare define the indefinable. He has an ideal balance of temperament and technique. Temperament is our inadequate term through which we recognize the spirit of the master workman, technique defines his manual skill; from the great and well known artist one expects the latter, but one can only pray he may be content with the former. To have the two adjusted to a perfect unity would satisfy the wise man who demands "nothing in excess." Is Mr. Ganz' supreme achievement? Who needs comment his technical ability? What is most admirable is that he makes no brilliant display of it. Beauty he would and does create, the pure beauty of classic Greece. He never sentimentalizes and to say that beauty created by his touch is seldom conscious is not to say that it lacks warmth and vitality but rather that it possesses a high spirituality, an idealism which is striking.

The Chopin group was greeted with delight. The familiarity of those numbers and Mr. Ganz' infallible interpretation of each gave to many in the audience the greatest pleasure of the entire evening. The three Ballade in G Minor, Op. 24, was beautiful, but the Brethren Appassionata Sonata played as a tribute to the late James Thompson, was a tremendous emotional experience. No words, written or spoken, did greater honor to this citizen than did the perfect music. In the last group the audience applauded most cordially not only the pianist but the composer as well. The Scherzino was a delight and the Ganz transcription of the Ballet Music from Schindler's Rosamunde was all that appreciative reviewers have noted it.

To Mr. Ganz and to the Losen club who brought him here must go our sincerest appreciation for that evening of unmarred enjoyment. The club disproved the often repeated statement that La Crosse does not care to hear an artist a second time while the memory of his previous appearance is still fresh in the mind. Mr. Ganz, it is safe to say, was more fully appreciated and enjoyed on this occasion than upon his previous appearance here two years ago. It is undoubtedly true that he has a broad, sunny, rippling, progressive spirit and from year to year makes his art richer and more expressive but it is also true part of his La Crosse audience's present enjoyment was due to the past knowledge of his artistry.

The largest amateur musical undertaking of the year is the opera "Hermione," to be given Friday, April 29 at the La Crosse High School. The opera is under the direction of Miss Stella Traut and Miss Adeline Briggs. This charming comic opera of Jachowowski's was given in La Crosse several years ago, as has been remarked in this column by the famous commentary which included Francis Wilson, Marguerite Sylva and others. As has also been observed, the opera had a successful revival in New York this winter which makes its amateur production here more timely.

From both a dramatic and a musical standpoint very sincere work is being done and La Crosse will have a pleasurable opportunity to renew its acquaintance with this delightful operetta.

The musical numbers included in the La Crosse Normal course for the season of 1921 and 1922 are announced at this time. The NORMAL opening concert will be COURSE October 10 at which time Riccardo Martin, operatic tenor, will be heard. Mr. Martin has been for eight years leading American tenor at the Metropolitan Opera house and whenever he has sung in Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Chicago or London has been enthusiastically applauded by critics.

A later concert will be given by Vera Poppe, cellist, and Edna Swanson Ver Haar, contralto. Miss Poppe is said to be one of the most brilliant cellists of the day. Madame Ver Haar is a concert and critical contralto. One of her most conspicuous successes has been the personal and artistic triumph of her appearance as soloist in Sweden with the Swedish Choral society of Chicago.

And all this means to La Crosse people who have formed the admirable habit of trusting the committee in charge of the Normal course to provide them with some really good music, that once more their confidence will be proven well placed.

Appropos of "things musical" could not some loyal and generous friend of music be found who would contribute a can of lubricator to that creaking door at the theater?

Gentlemen:

With reference to your recent inquiry in regard to the writer's success with Firestone tires and equipment, beg to state that for the past several years Firestone equipment has been used exclusively by this company on commercial vehicles and trucks, as well as on the personal cars of the writer.

I have just recently replaced with Firestone tires, Firestone tires which have been run better than 14,000 miles on a Stutz Sport Model.

Our experience with Firestone tires has been overwhelmingly in their favor over other makes, this experience going over a period of about ten years. It is the personal opinion of the writer, gained from actual experience that there are no tires manufactured that are the equal of Firestone, and I would not hesitate to recommend them to anyone, in fact, would recommend no other make.

Yours very truly,

WHAT MINNESOTA HAS DONE IN FARM LEGISLATION

(By Sam P. Rusk, Blooming Prairie, Representative of Sixteenth District.)

THE 1921 session of the Minnesota legislature has completed its work. In the forefront of this work stands the agricultural program on which the campaign of last fall was waged. Every promise made to the voters during that campaign has been fulfilled. Every essential piece of legislation enacted to protect and benefit agricultural interests has been made into law. Credit for this result goes to a united legislature working sincerely in co-operation with the executive department in behalf of all legitimate interests in the state. Especially credit is due to the agricultural committee in the senate and to the markets and marketing committee of the house that had before them for consideration the agricultural measures that have been made into law.

The list of this legislation is long. Here are some of the essential laws enacted:

Extend Co-op Powers

The co-operative law of 1919 was extended to permit the federation of local co-operative associations into large buying and selling units. By this action the legislature gives to the Minnesota farmer exactly the same power and privileges that are now enjoyed by the great business corporations, and makes it the duty of the state department of agriculture to assist farmers in the establishment of local and central co-operative selling associations.

The law of 1919 establishing the state department of agriculture has been so amended as to give that department supervision over all dealers in farm products, outside of hay, grain and livestock as now regulated by the railroad and warehouse commission, and to protect the shipment of such produce against misrepresentation. In making returns and fraud by allowing him to demand state inspection of produce shipped, or to require the assistance of the state department of agriculture in the adjustment of claims.

Open Exchanges to Farmers

The Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce, the Duluth Board of Trade and the South St. Paul Livestock Exchange have been declared open markets and the farmer is given the right to come on to these markets with his co-operative selling agencies.

The gambling feature in "futures" trading is defined by a law covering gambling contracts and "futures" trading. The essential feature of this law is that the sale or purchase of grain that one does not own, or expect to deliver, is forbidden under heavy penalties.

Unfair discrimination in the price paid for milk by wholesale dealers protects the local creamery or cheese factory from price cutting competition.

A law establishing an auditing division within the state department of agriculture permits any co-operative association, desiring an official audit of its books, to secure such service from the state at cost.

Additional funds are provided for the completion of the state test mill for the purpose of testing the bread-making qualities of Minnesota wheat and for the purpose of fixing the correct standards for the grading of wheat. This insures the completion and operation of this mill for the crop season of 1921.

Provision is made for ascertaining the cost of production of farm products through the co-operation of the county agricultural agents and the state department of agriculture.

Under an act passed, the matter of establishing state rural credits will be submitted to the voters at the next regular election. Establishment of such credits demands a change in the state constitution.

Provision is made for the organization of land mortgage associations.

Under this law, a group of men can get together and finance the clearing and improvement of agricultural lands, giving long credit terms if the farmer desires.

Counties are permitted under the Bissett law to appropriate money for the clearing of lands that are agricultural in character. This law is similar in its action within the county to the existing state law relative to drainage.

A land classification law is enacted providing for the classification of unoccupied lands within the state. This, together with provision for continued experiments on peat and sandy soils gives Minnesota the beginnings of a business-like survey of its unused agricultural lands.

State to Fight Weeds

A supervisor under the state department of agriculture has been provided and state-wide weed control is placed in his hands. Special provision is made for the eradication of the wheat rust producing barberry.

The cold storage act of 1919 is widened in its scope to protect the interests of producer and consumer by the labeling of cold storage products where they are sold in competition with products fresh from the farm.

State aid to county fairs, was increased by a total of $15,000, enabling each county complying with the state requirements to secure at least $1,500.

An amendment to the law establishing mutual insurance companies permits twenty-five or more county fairs to form a mutual fire and cyclone protective association.

Wills for the more complete protection of grain and livestock shippers, amendatory to present laws, were passed.

Urge Farm Tariff

Resolutions memorializing congress to protect various agricultural products from foreign competition were passed and forwarded to congress.

A resolution memorializing congress to enact legislation prohibiting and curtailing speculation in farm products was passed.

A resolution asking the interstate commerce commission to make illegal the existing freight discriminations on steel and steel products was passed.

The state department of agriculture is given power to establish an inspection service covering potatoes and other vegetables.

Amendments strengthening and broadening the operation of the drainage laws were passed.

When the birds were killed by a hunter the bands are to be returned with information as to the locality of the bird's demise. This is an effort to secure data on the dispersal and routes of travel by the birds. A very large percentage of the birds were returned and some interesting information secured. One of these, a blue-winged teal, was killed near Port of Spain, Trinidad, British West Indies, 2,500 miles from the point where the band was placed upon

DEMOCRATS FIGHT GENERAL EDWARDS AS CHIEF OF STAFF

Harding's Promotions of Generals Approved After Committee Fight

EXPECTED HARBORD WILL BE MADE CHIEF OF STAFF

Weeks Denies Alleged Flaws in Edwards' Record

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Despite some democratic objection to Brigadier General Clarence R. Edwards, the senate military committee Saturday voted to recommend confirmation of the twelve major and fourteen brigadier generals nominated recently by President Harding for promotion. General Edwards, who commanded the Twenty-sixth New England division overseas until relieved by General Pershing and returned home, was the only nominee on the list under fire. The committee vote on his name Saturday was reported to have been 12 to 3, with three democrats opposing and three others voting for his confirmation.

Fought by Three
Those said to have opposed General Edwards included Senators Hitchcock, Nebraska, and McKellar, Tennessee. Senators Robinson of Arkansas and Myers of Montana, democrats, were reported to have joined the republican committee members in supporting him. Senator Shoup of Texas and Fletcher of Florida, the other democrats on the committee, declined to indicate their action.

Members of the senate committee expressed the belief that General Edwards would not be chosen chief of staff after today's meeting, at which Secretary Weeks was called in again today for further discussion of General Edwards' record. Major General Harbord, according to opinion of prominent republican senators, will be selected chief of staff to succeed Major General Peyton C. March.

Deny Base for Charges

Information submitted by Secretary Weeks regarding General Edwards' record, was given in executive session. Members of the committee said that it disclosed existence of differences between General Pershing and General Edwards over the latter's course in commanding the Twenty-sixth division in France. Secretary Weeks, however, was reported to have declared emphatically to democratic senators opposing Edwards' promotion that a thorough search of the war department files had been made without finding any record of such charges as democratic senators said that they understood were on file.

Regarding the Yip controversy between a staid determination on the part of Japan to hold onto its mandate for the island, and on the part of our government a grim intention of standing pat. Doubtless our European allies would be glad to give Uncle Sam what he asks, but they are bound by treaty with Japan, and even though it is conceded that we have not surrendered our rights in the matter, France and England are obliged to consider that if they acknowledge this right on our part to repudiate the Yip mandate, they will by that act have recognized our right to reject all mandates so far as they affect the international rights of the United States. Indeed, what awards of the peace conference may not be questioned if any one of them may?

Much war talk has accompanied comment on this situation, but it is probable that the powers would shrink from a new war even to the extent of making difficult concessions.

Having again refused to comply with allied demands for reparations payments, and having specifically declared that the paying over of German gold would wreck what remains of the German financial equipment, the German government officially asked President Harding to intercede. The president declined, but intimated that were Germany to formulate a new reparations proposal constituting "a proper basis," our government might intercede in a manner "acceptable" to the allies. The inference goes two ways. It implies Germany that in the president's judgment its proposals to date have not constituted a "proper basis," and it likewise implies to advise the allies that there exists a part-way course between their demands and the German proposals which would more nearly approximate justice.

May 1 is set by the allies as the date of accounting, and unless they weaken, or Germany delivers, there may be an interesting "show-down." As it stands today, Germany rests on the idea that the allies "can't get blood out of a turnip," while the French policy seems to be the joke-book alternative of getting "more out of a turnip."

Great Britain is instituting its home rule law in Ireland. Candidates for the northern parliament are entering the field in large numbers, but the election call is largely ignored in South Ireland, where the majority recognizes no government but that of the Irish republic.

Samuel Gompers, 75, marries a woman of 35. There will be much gossip about the romance and that it is nobody's business will make no difference. Doubtless the average man would hesitate at such an adventure at Sam's age, but Sam is considerably more than the average man. At any rate, he is consistent, for he has always favored union. And so let's hope the bride is right when she says they'll live happily ever after.

Long-Lost Quarter is Fished up From Her Esophagus

SCRANTON, Pa.—From the esophagus of a thirteen-year-old girl, local surgeons Saturday fished a silver quarter that had been embedded there for more than two years. The operation was performed without the use of a knife, the surgeons making use of a rubber tube with an electric light at its lower end. This was forced down the girl's throat. The light revealed the blackened coin. The surgeons then introduced forceps and extracted the quarter.

DANCE DRAMA TO BE GIVEN BY CLASSES OF ROSALIE LYGA

Cycle of Seasons and Grecian Games Staged in La Crosse Theater Tuesday

Grecian games and dramatic dances will be given next Tuesday evening in the La Crosse theater by Miss Rosalie Lyga and the members of her classes. The theme for the dance drama is taken from the Greek myth of the Persephone—symbolical of the cycle of the seasons. According to the myth Persephone came out to play with the flower maidens. Pluto carried her away, whereupon there was mourning among the maidens. Hermes, dressed himself in white as a sign of mourning, then Mercury came to tell that Persephone will return. Rejoicing follows. A feature of the entertainment will be the Grecian games. The program follows:

CHICAGO, Ill.—Financial difficulties of the New York Central railroad, advanced as one reason for asking wage reductions before the railroad labor board, were declared to be due to bad management in an exhibit presented to the board Saturday by the railway unions.

The exhibit, which was presented by W. J. Lauck, economist for the employees, detailed the financial history of the road and Mr. Lauck, in a supplemental statement, declared that in the face of an $128,540,677.75 over-capitalization, the New York Central should not seek to blame its financial difficulties on labor wages.

A demonstration of the puncture-proof qualities of Lee Puncture-Proof tires was staged on the downtown streets Friday and Saturday when Barton B. Although this was repeated over fifty times during the two days, the tires were not punctured.

Several amusing incidents were reported by Mr. King. One incredulous on-looker refused to believe that the tires were puncture-proof until they had been deflated. Another gentleman insisted on examining the spikes to assure himself that they were genuine.

He Kids Pennsylvania Society and They Come Back With an Indemnity Bond for Cal

PITTSBURGH, Pa.—An indemnity bond for $57.57 on Vice-President Calvin Coolidge's overcoat was issued here Saturday to Federal Judge Joseph Buffington. The judge attended the inaugural ceremonies at Washington March 4 and during the excitement he walked away with the vice president's overcoat mistaking it for his own. The bond is designed to protect the coat while the vice president attends the Founders' day exercises at Carnegie institute here next Thursday.

The bond, duly signed and sealed, insures the overcoat in the sum of $57.57 against loss by theft, or sundry other causes, while the vice president is in Pittsburgh.

While the coat is insured, the contents are not, and under the bond, the owner of the coat must wear it from 7 a. m. until midnight Thursday. Another clause provide that Mr. Coolidge must notify Mayor E. V. Babcock as soon as he arrives here, in order that the city's chief executive may detail necessary police protection to guard the coat.

The bond was issued after Vice-President Coolidge, replying to Judge Buffington's invitation to attend the Founders' day celebration, said he feared for the safety of his overcoat.

PLAINVILLE, Mich.—Fred Barker, exhausted from the hardships he endured on his fifteen hundred mile funeral tramp, arrived here early Saturday with the body of his brother-in-law, J. Ward Brown, who died of pneumonia two weeks ago at a frontier trading post in Northern Canada.

20 NATIONALITIES IN CONSTANTINOPLE HAVE OWN PAPERS

Task of Editing Organs Difficult One; Censors Beset One on Every Hand

CONSTANTINOPLE.—The task of editing a local newspaper here is exactly four times more difficult than in an American city for here there are Turkish, British, French and Italian censors.

A paper here after the censors have finished with it sometimes bears little resemblance to what the editor intended.

Here are gathered some 20 nationalities, and each requires an organ. The Greeks have seven newspapers in their own language, and one printed in French; the Armenians have four in their own language and one in French; the Turks have nine dailies in their own language; the Jews have one in Hebrew and two dailies in Spanish; the French have one in their language, the commonly spoken and written language of the Levant; and they also pay subsidies to several others. The British have one—the Orient News.

The Arabs have their organ, so do the Persians. Likewise the Russians, anti and pro bolshevik. Strange peoples from other lands have their little sheets. The Americans print a magazine of business and a weekly, the Far Seas, printed by the United States navy. The Italians used to have their organ, and soon will have it again. The Greek Patriarch has his. There is also in French the weekly bulletin of the Vatican's Apostolic Vicar.

It is an easy matter to print a paper in English or French. However, consider that the Jewish paper is printed in Hebrew letters but in the Spanish language, also that the Turkish language requires four kinds of type and has 90 letters to its alphabet. The Arab language is a good deal like the Turkish, except that it is different in accent marks, and the

NATURE STUDY

Birds link themselves to our memories of seasons and places, so that a song, a call, a gleam of color set against a sequence of delightful reminiscences in our mind.—John Burroughs.

In a rummage among some books in the attic recently, an old herbarium came to light that bore the inscription "La Crosse High School 1888." The specimens within were faded, but they evoked the memory of the one social event directly connected with a four years' course in high school about that time.

The boys of the Latin division of the botany class secured enough "rics" to take the girls and a teacher to spend an entire day looking for specimens. Later some were analyzed, and others were pressed, mounted, and labelled.

The botanical names are mostly forgotten, except one, anemone patens, our pasque flower, so often mis-called. But after that no spring was complete that did not include a walk out on the Salem road for marsh marigolds, bloodroot, Dutchman's breeches, and a drive to Oehler's cave when the slopes were snowy with trillium shielding the dainty anemones. Harder of access were the hepatica and wild ginger, the beds of lady's slippers, and hantest of all to get the pitcher plant with its curious leaf and still more curious blossoms. In a beautiful garden of wild flowers which were originally planted by a member of that class whose promising young life was ended in his junior year.

Nature Study Today

The high school of today has many activities, social and educational, and, happily, nature study is not neglected. The herbarium is a thing of the past, for conservation has not been practiced and many of the wild flower beds have been destroyed. The development of life from the seed is taught in a most interesting way, plants and flowers are named, but the woods are not robbed of their treasures. An instructive project now in progress is a census of all the trees in the city, including the number and kind. The pupil first learns different ways of identification, using the various trees on the campus, then he makes a census of his own home block. One enthusiastic lad has accomplished a survey of twenty-four flocks. The entire work is to be completed by June. Another interest is a bulletin board where specimens of birds, leaves, blossoms and berries are exhibited in season.

The Hikers' club also encourages nature study, for in order to win the coveted "H" the candidate must accomplish not only a ten mile walk within a day, but, also, be able to identify twenty-five birds and ten varieties of trees and flowers.

In Grade Schools

In the grade schools, there is no definite nature course, but much of the work is done in connection with the regular studies. In the kindergarten and the primary grades, the various seasons are observed with suitable poems, stories and handiwork. In the intermediate grades, pictures of birds are a part of the drawing course, and the boys in the natural training classes make bird houses. A supplementary reader of the sixth grade, "The Travels of Birds," is very fascinating, and one of the teachers has devised a clever guessing game in poetry, called "Belongs from Birdland."

The junior high schools continue the work in English, by descriptions of birds and flowers. In one school, at least, the interest is sustained by allowing a brief period of each recitation to be devoted to further bird study. After each is carefully identified, its picture is posted as a record. Such work is invaluable in training the powers of observation and accurate description.

Teachers Inspire Pupils

In addition to regular school time, individual teachers, who are interested in the subject, inspire the pupils to outside work. There are window gardens to observe, cocoons to watch, bird and flower calendars to keep, and other devices are employed. These establish a sympathetic point of contact between teacher and pupils and also lead to an interesting purpose in outdoor life which is an influence for good.

Other agencies in the same work are the Girl Scouts, the Boy Scouts and the Girl Reserves, composed largely of school pupils, assisted often by the teachers. The public library has a fine assortment of nature books and the children's department keeps a nature bulletin board. The La Crosse

County Conservation club is offering generous prizes this year for the best essays written by high school pupils on the subject, "Conservation of Fish and Game." Uncle Sam does his bit by furnishing bulletins emphasizing especially the economic value of saving our birds.

Another delightful feature of this study is that it carries over so well into the home. No well-regulated family should be without a set of nature books and a bird-house or two. A feeding station for winter and a bird bath for summer afford endless entertainment.

Birds Stay All Winter

Our location on the Mississippi offers special advantages, for we are on a regular migration route which gives many transients as well as residents. A Christmas census taken any year within the city would surely include the downy woodpecker, white-breasted nuthatch, blue jay, brown creeper, purple horned lark, crow, chickadee and probably a robin or two lingering over his favorite hackberries. In addition there are other winter birds less regular in time and stay, as the cedar waxwings, evening grosbeaks, juncos and sometimes the flicker and red-headed woodpecker.

With the return of the bluebirds and robins the great professional begins. It is impossible to enumerate them in this article. Among the most interesting of the transients reported in April this year are the fox sparrow, purple finch, ruby and golden-crowned kinglets. New arrivals are coming each day, but the crest of the wave is in May, the time of the migration of the warblers and the return of many of our summer favorites. On an early morning walk to La Crosse one day in May some years ago, fifty-four varieties of birds were identified and others seen. Was that worth while?

Cardinal Prize Beauty

The latest acquisition to our bird colony is the cardinal, so beautiful in plumage and song. The Arbor and Bird Day Manual of 1922 states: "If a straight line were drawn from the city of New York to Omaha, Neb., this line would mark the northern limit of the cardinal's breeding range. It would run within thirty miles of Chicago and sixty-five miles south of Wisconsin. The cardinal has been seen so frequently in southern Wisconsin that we reasonably hope that the bird is changing its range and extending it further north."

That was written almost ten years ago, and now we are informed that Presbach and De Sora boast of colonies of these birds, and forty miles to the south of us they are quite numerous.

Here are a few suggestions that have been offered from various sources, for the furtherance of this work: that many more bird houses and stations be placed in parks and near residences; that a systematic warfare be waged against the English sparrow; that the park commission be requested to see that a wild flower garden is started in Pettibone park, and that the different varieties of trees be labelled; that the Tribune and Leader-Press secure a competent person to send in a weekly bird calendar during the times of special interest.

Here is certainly an opportunity to develop a community spirit in an interest which will afford pleasure to all and be an aid to good citizenship. — Courier-Journal.

FAMOUS "BLACK BEAUTY" COMING TO RIVOLI THE LAST OF THIS WEEK

This week at the Rivoli will be notable for the appearance here of a photograph of a new type, "Black Beauty" (film) from the world-famous book of Anna Sewall's which has been translated into seven or eight foreign languages and, although forty years and more old, is still one of the best sellers of all classic novels.

"Black Beauty" is, as everyone knows, the story of a horse. It is a story different from anything ever attempted for the films, and the difficulties of filming it, because of the number of animals needed and the arduous job it proved to get them to "act" pushed the cost to an enormous figure. With the story of the horse is interwoven a human story, the whole turned into a wonderful scenario by Mr. and Mrs. George Randolph Chester, the famous creators of J. Rufus Wallingford.

It is rare that such a heart-interest story is available for the screen. "Black Beauty" has been filmed in the simple narrative style that made it so human in type. The simple drama of its homely characters gives it all the big moments it requires. The family appeal of "Black Beauty" is one of its strongest features. It is as sweet and clean a story as ever was written—or filmed. Father, mother, and children will extract a thoroughly enjoyable evening's entertainment from the picture without the slightest offense, and will understand and feel the story as it unfolds.

"THE JUCKLINS" OPHE READ'S NOVEL, AT RIVOLI
Have you ever read Ophe Read's famous novel of Southern folk, "The Jucklins"? If you have, you will perhaps be pleased to see those sturdy characters visualized in George Melford's splendid Paramount production of "The Jucklins" when that picture is shown at the Rivoli Theater starting today.

Few changes have been made in the story, so that every vital scene of the novel will be found in the screen adaptation made by Frank Gordon. He states that every character creation has been preserved, while the story itself unfolds on the screen exactly as it does in the story. There are twenty important roles in the picture, and all have been developed by players capable of portraying each distinct type artistically. Monte Blue is seen as Bill Haves, the fighting school master, while Gaius Jucklin is portrayed by Mabel Julianne Scott.

"UP IN MARY'S ATTIC" CALLED HIGH-SPEED COMEDY
"Up in Mary's Attic" will be the feature picture offering at the Riviera Monday, the Casino Tuesday and Wednesday and Strand on Thursday. The charming Eva Novak and the funny Harry Gribbon are the principal players. In this big comedy feature (Continued on page fourteen)

DEAR MR. COTTON:

I went last night to see "BLACK BEAUTY". It certainly was a pleasure to find the house jammed and standing room sought for. And the play deserves it. Every old fellow who was brought up on a farm or near one will have memories of childhood recalled during the evening; and children who have never known the beauty and companionship of horses should go. This picture will leave its mark for a life time. Then surely those persons who are asking for better movies, every one of them, should see this picture and show the producers that they will support a clean, beautiful thing when it comes to town. I hope that the success of this film will warrant your company in doing more of this same high grade work.

Very truly yours,

(Signed) W. F. WEBSTER.

BEACH-JONES STOCK RETURNS NEXT WEEK FOR INDEFINITE RUN

Well-Liked Repertoire Company Coming to La Crosse Theatre With Recent Successes

Word that the Beach-Jones stock company is returning to the city for an indefinite engagement at the La Crosse theatre, beginning next Sunday, has been well received by those who recall the success that this company of players enjoyed during their week's run in February. Before the week was finished they were breaking all previous attendance records at the big house. Folks seemed to like their manner of presenting well-known plays.

After spending the intervening time in a tour of the larger cities of the state to good business, Manager M. J. Jones reports—the Beach-Jones company is returning to La Crosse for a run that will be at least three weeks, and possibly much more. None of the plays that they gave here on their last visit will be repeated. It will be all new stuff—of the sort that is known to the profession as "royalty plays." "Royalty plays" are proven winners, for the use of which stock companies must pay the original producers stiff tribute.

The Beach-Jones company will open with "The Girl Patsy," with Eloda Sitzer, "the little redhead," of course playing the name part. The bills will be changed twice weekly, on Sundays and Wednesdays. Matinee performances will be regular events on Saturdays and Sundays. "Patsy" will be followed by the well-known Broadway hit, "Cheating Cheaters." Other plays that are scheduled include "Smiling Through," "Which One Shall I Marry?," "Polly With a Last," and "Fair and Warner"—the names of all of which will be familiar to all acquainted with recent Broadway history.

The Beach-Jones company will prepare a separate and distinctive production for each play. One of the assets of the company is a scenic artist, Milo B. Denney, who makes fresh sets for each new piece. Mr. Denney came to La Crosse last week in advance of the company, and is now busy in the loft of the La Crosse theatre preparing the frame for the opening productions. Those who saw them before will remember the high grade of stage setting which marked the appearance of the company on its last visit.

Manager Jones also announced that the company has employed a new producing director, Ralph Hayes, who has had much experience as a stock director in the cities, and who is now handling the preliminary work for the bills to be given in La Crosse.

Fifty Islanders bleach their thick woolly hair with lime and wear it in a great mop. Gold and silver have been used for coinage for twenty-five centuries.

and which created a furore throughout Europe, being acclaimed one of the strongest dramas of the age.

The story is that of a young Russian artist, who suspected of "Nihilism," escapes to England, where she falls in love with a struggling composer. They are married and settled in Paris, where Panthea's husband tries in vain to get a hearing for his opera. The many disappointments impair his health and the physicians declare that he will die unless his ambition is realized. For the sake of her husband Panthea makes a compact with an elderly admirer who has great influence in musical circles. Her sacrifice brings about the triumphant production of her husband's opera, but at the moment of his great success he discovers this manner in which Panthea induced her friend, the Baron, to exert his influence.

This situation climaxes ever seen on the screen and in the end Panthea and her husband are reconciled just as the long arm of the Russian secret police stretches out from Petrograd to seize its prey in Paris.

THREE FAMOUS STARS TO SHINE AT MAJESTIC

Norma Talmadge, Mary Miles Minter and Dustin Farnum—how's that for a bill of fare for Majestic fans for the next week? They are coming in that order, Norma opening the week with the noted play "Panthea," which will be seen at the Majestic only today.

Mary Miles Minter's offering is a classic story, in which the famous little star has the part of a wife of the seductive king, Dustin Farnum, whose picture will close the week, has a different sort of vehicle than every one else, in which he substitutes for a brother in a series of adventures while his brother disappears. Complications are added by the fact that his brother has just been married, and his wife "goes with the devil."

"Panthea" is today's offering at the Majestic. The lovely Norma Talmadge appears in the title role of this famous play in which Mme. Olga Petrova starred so successfully on the American stage several seasons ago.

"Body and Soul," a story of an American girl art student in Paris, gives the young actress a character rather different, it is understood, a departure from the girl-in-gingham parts. It is a romance of the Latin Quarter, and Miss Lake, say those who have had pre-lease views of the picture, proves as piquant in the Parisian atmosphere as if she had been born and raised within a stone's throw of the Seine. Stuart Holmes and William Lawrence are prominent in the cast of "Body and Soul," which was directed by Charles Swickard and photographed by Arthur Reeves. The story is an adaptation by Hayden Talbot and Marc Robbins of the play by William Hurlbut. Special art interiors were designed by A. E. Prenderman.

SENSATIONAL FLIGHTS IN "GOLDEN TRAIL" PICTURE
In the attempt to secure proper realism and atmosphere in the great photo-drama, "The Golden Trail," at the Casino today and Monday and Strand on Tuesday Louis Moomaw, who directed this photoplay secured two professional pugilists to stage a fight during the course of the play. The pugilists were in first class condition and had been boxing on the Pacific Coast for sometime when they were secured to stage the big fight scene in "The Golden Trail." The fighters rehearsed their parts for several days until they were able to go through with it from start to finish with great realism. In the meantime not giving any hint of brutality to the audience. Dramatic critics throughout the country have greatly criticized the fight scenes in photo-plays as being entirely too insincere in their portrayal, while seeming to accentuate the brutality of the encounter. "The Golden Trail" features the famous film beauty, Jane Novak.

RIVIERA PRESENTS 5-ACT VODVIL AND FILM SHOW TODAY

Cooper Announces Opening of Continuous Sunday Vodvil-
Feature Picture Show

The Riviera theater begins a new era in its career today with the inauguration of a continuous five-act vodvil and feature picture show. For the first time in the history of the city's theatrical life has anything so big been attempted in any theater other than those located in the heart of the city. Never has a show so large been presented in a suburban house.

A. J. Cooper, president of the Cooper Amusement company, and general director of the Riviera, has obtained the exclusive rights to present Marcus Loew circuit vodvil acts. The first bill will be presented today and every Sunday hereafter for an indefinite run.

"When I opened the Riviera I was determined to give the public the best entertainment I could obtain for the cheapest admission price," said Mr. Cooper, "and these five-act vodvil programs for Sunday is another step in carrying forward my policy of the most for the money." Marcus Loew vodvil is played all over the west in the best of the popular-priced houses. It is the finest vodvil obtainable for which a reasonable admission price can be charged.

"Besides the vodvil program I am presenting a feature picture and a comedy. The picture program and orchestra alone are worth at least the price charged for the entire show. Today I will present Alice Lake in a Metro classic, 'Body and Soul,' a sensational picture of the artists' quarter of Paris. A two-act comedy, 'The Fire Bug' completes the picture program. The Riviera orchestra, under the able director of Chester Wright will play several popular numbers, in addition to playing during the vodvil."

The vodvil bill is as follows: Pantzer Brothers, an entertaining comedy offering; Morton, Dennis and Gibson, singing, dancing and comedy talk; Orr and Hager, in "Little Miss Innocence," comedy and singing; Godfrey and Henderson, comedy chatter and song; McMahon and Adelaide, novelty number, with dancing as an added attraction.

The performance opens at 2:30 p. m. and runs continuously until 11 p. m. The schedule of the shows is: 2:30, picture; 4, vodvil; 5, pictures; 7, vodvil; 8, pictures; 9, vodvil; 10, pictures.

MATINEE TO OPEN TWO-DAY RUN OF DUNBAR "MIKADO"

Revival of Noted and Beloved
Old Comic Opera Comes With Best of Productions

In connection with the coming to the La Crosse theater today and Monday, with a bargain matinee Sunday afternoon, of the famous Gilbert and Sullivan opera, "The Mikado," a Ralph Dunbar production, one hears most interesting comment on the novelty of having real comic opera here instead of having to go somewhere to it.

It's the original revival that's coming here. Mr. Dunbar has spared neither work nor money to make the production on a par with his "Carmen" and his "Robin Hood." Careful attention has been given to the mechanical equipment of the opera, to the costuming and to the cast and chorus. Ed Andrews, of the old Andrews Opera company, is singing the comedy role of "Koko."

"The sympathetic interest which 'The Mikado' has evoked since its first presentation in 1885, is based on the public's familiarity with the remarkably popular music. Not jazz music but the well known 'Mikado' song hits that are filled to the brim with sweet and jingly melody."

"The Mikado," fresh from the wonder brain of Mr. Dunbar, has been a success ever since the first performance. The business has been what theatrical men call "a turn-away." In nearly every city visited by the company the seats in the theater have all been sold in advance and standing room has been at a premium.

The public remembers the tuneful Gilbert and Sullivan masterpiece. The impression made years ago is as keen and fresh as the lines cut by a die in soft metal. And it's a pleasurable impression, too.

"WHITE WINGS"

Composer of Famous Old Song
Heads Majestic Vodvil Today

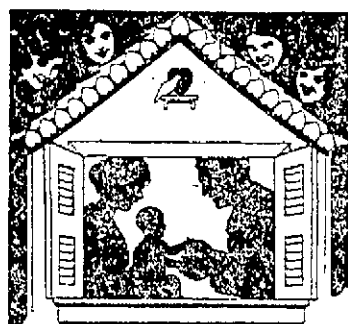

Who remembers "White Wings"—or rather, who does not?

The famous old song, and the man who made it famous are appearing in Sunday's vodvil bill at the Majestic. Banks Winter is the man's name. He is the composer and the original singer of "White Wings," and the song is one of the numbers in the act which he presents with George McKissock. It is one of the quantities and, to many people it will prove the most pleasing of acts now on the vandeville stage, for it brings forward two old gentlemen, stage favorites of the past generation, who come with the ballads and character songs of their day. Both were once famous singers of comic and classic opera, and still retain much of the original beauty of voice. It is said, and aside from that, they have their own appeal to the people of their own age whose youth their act recalls.

Paris and Nilson will also appear at the Majestic on the Sunday bill, in a snappy skit purporting to present a travelling salesman and a member of the same profession of the opposite sex. The act includes a lot of humorous cross-fire chatter, and well deserves its title of "Bright Ideas."

On Monday the Majestic will present Mable Le Courver, a versatile and handsome comedienne in songs and comedy; and Duell and Woody in an entertaining skit called "Getting His Number"—talking and singing.

SILENT MEDITATION

Suggestion of Hays' Friends for P. O. Welfare

WASHINGTON—Some of Postmaster General Hays' friends are inclined to "josh" him about his program for humanizing and strengthening the morale of the postal service.

"Bill," one of them asked, "why not set aside a minute each day when each postal employee shall stop work and devote himself to silent meditation and prayer for the betterment of the service?"

"That would be a complete change from the old course, when every time a man had a minute to himself he spent it cursing Burlington."

"Then you don't care for this future art?" "No, let the people of the future enjoy it."—Louisville Courier Journal.

YOU'LL SAVE MONEY BY REMODELING NOW

You who have been waiting for lower prices before you laid that hardwood floor, renewed those old walls and ceilings, re-roofed the house or barn, or built the garage—this message is directed to you.

Do you know that lumber and building material prices are down forty per cent?

Do you know that you can repair or remodel cheaper than at any time in the past five years?

Do you realize that every day you wait not only inconveniences you but costs you real money?

Building material prices may come down more—we think not—but every day you delay in getting the new garage deprives you of the use of it, and causes you to pay out money for garage rent.

Every day you delay roofing the barn and the home, makes your property more liable to damage from storm. Every day you put off inside repairs the trouble increases and the total expense becomes greater.

Come in today and let us figure your job. Begin getting the benefit now.

This Reo Speed Wagon Knows No Rival, No Peer

More attempts have been made to copy this Speed Wagon than any other motor vehicle ever built.

That isn't a mere statement, it is a fact known to everyone in the automobile industry.

Some have produced trucks that, so far as outward appearance—and even mechanical specifications—went, were such good imitations they'd fool any but the most experienced.

But—if we are to judge by the short-lived success of all of them—they were able to copy the Speed Wagon only in outward appearance.

For in performance—carrying capacity and durability—the Reo stands out above all others today.

And each passing month adds to that eminence

This you may depend upon—only a motor truck that is Reo designed and built in the Reo shops, can guarantee you the same service and satisfaction—the same low price and low upkeep—as the Reo Speed Wagon.

We avoid the use of superlatives as much as possible in our advertisements—but there is one Best in every line.

Among motor trucks that distinction belongs to this Speed Wagon—and so far is not successfully disputed.

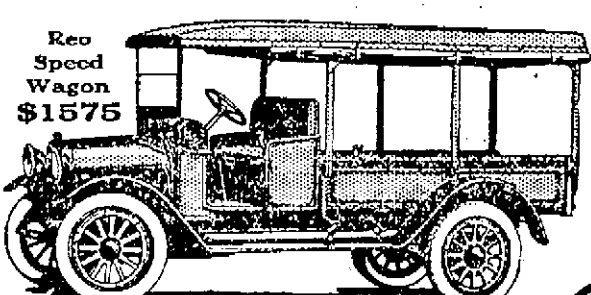

When you select a Reo Speed Wagon you are sure. Why experiment then with copies or imitations or substitutes if you can get the original?

For, you know—"If it isn't a Reo it isn't a Speed Wagon."

Price is f. o. b. Lenoire, plus special Federal tax.

NORMAL TEAM ANNEXES TWELVE INNING GAME AT TREMPPEALEAU

LOCAL NINE IS VICTORIOUS IN SECOND GAME

Batting Rally in Twelfth Frame Nets La Crosse Team Five Runs; Scattered Hits

ERRORS OF LOCALS IN 4TH GIVES TREMPPEALEAU 3 RUNS

"Lefty" Glasbrenner Clauts Circuit Drive in Seventh Frame Placing Locals in the Lead

The La Crosse normal school baseball team won the second game of the season when it defeated the Trempealeau Independents 10 to 5 in an exciting contest at Trempealeau on Saturday.

A feature of the game was a home run by "Lefty" Glasbrenner in the seventh frame which put La Crosse one run in the lead. Trempealeau succeeded in getting a run across in the eighth frame when the La Crosse team remained at a tie score. The game remained at a tie until the twelfth inning, when the La Crosse team experienced a batting rally which netted five runs.

La Crosse got three runs in the first inning, one in the sixth and one in the seventh, then the five in the twelfth. Trempealeau failed to score until the fourth inning, when three men made the circuit of the bases. All three of these runs came as a result of errors, due in a large measure to the condition of the diamond. The baseball was a regular path and at third, it amounted to a ditch about a foot deep.

Gundersen in form
Gundersen pitched a good game for La Crosse. He occupied the box for the full twelve innings, during which time he allowed only five hits. The La Crosse sluggers got twelve hits from Towner, who was on the mound for Trempealeau.

In spite of the errors on both sides, the game was an exciting one for the crowd of spectators who witnessed it. Many of the normal school students made the trip to Trempealeau in cars and on bicycles to see the game.

Coach Nole has scheduled a game with Monroe for Memorial day, but was unable to complete negotiations for a game with Black River Falls. St. Mary's has written for a series of games, but nothing definite has been decided on as yet. Lineup:
La Crosse—Williams, c; Gundersen, p; Schultz, 1b; Johnson, 2b; Miller, 3b; Dehn, ss; "Lefty" Glasbrenner, lf; Beck, cf; "Shorty" Glasbrenner, rf.
Trempealeau—Haymond, c; Towner, p; Kuechler, 1b; Hayder, 2b; Pratt, 3b; Hutton, ss; Church, lf; Miller, cf; Johnson, rf.
Church substituted for "Shorty" Glasbrenner in the ninth.

INSIDER SAYS

Judge Landis is making so good a head of baseball that the brilliant players are urging him to govern their organization.

France is so enthusiastic over Suzanne Lenglen's tennis, it would be she could make Bill Tilden look like a beginner.

Norman Brooks and Gerald Patterson will not compete in the 1921 Davis cup matches in this country. They'll give the kids a chance.

Left-handers seem to be getting the grand bounce this year. Dicky Kerr, Hub Leonard, Walter Mills, Clarence Mitchell, Sheerall Smith and Dutch Henrich have all been driven off the mound in early games.

American League pitchers are still using the intentional pass as it was intended to be used.

Dempsey, like the tax collector, figures all opponents alike.

Tex Rickard can make more news out of his news than any other man in the world. His news has been proved in his defeat of announcement of where "it" will be held.

COLLEGIANS ALL PLAY
COLLEGIANS, O.—More than 1000 students are now playing baseball here at Ohio State as a part of their recreation. Baseball is proving as popular as football did last fall. The question of allowing college men to play summer ball is being considered.

IN THE SPORT MIRROR

BY "BANGS"

That there is increased interest in baseball among the younger set of the town this season is evidenced by the fact that numerous teams have been organized at the various schools throughout the city. Baseball among the co-eds of La Crosse has taken a sudden spurt and the national game can be seen in progress on every vacant lot in the city.

The enthusiasts of high school age too, have taken added interest in the sport, there being four regularly organized teams playing games among themselves in the city to date. Games among these teams have been played at Elkhorn and Normal fields.

To more thoroughly organize and systematize the games among these high school and grade school teams, the La Crosse Outdoor Sports Association at a meeting to be held at the Chamber of Commerce next week, has a date to be announced later, will endeavor to place the teams in two leagues and formulate a schedule for the respective teams in each league. The organization will be known as Senior and Junior leagues. Team captains or representatives are urgently requested to be present at the meeting, the date of which will be announced during the first part of the week. While a number of the schools have organized indoor baseball teams, it is the request of the Sports Association that the teams be re-organized into regular baseball teams, providing their intentions are to enter the proposed league to be organized by the association. Watch for the announcement of the meeting and come.

Communication from the La Crosse country club Saturday stated that the warm sun and breezes of the day brought a record number of golfers on the links. With the continual opening up of spring atmosphere, the links are expected to be crowded with those desiring to "get in" early practice.

IS BASEBALL A CRIME?

Editor La Crosse Tribune
Dear Sir:—I have noticed quite a few articles in the paper lately relative to "baseball sport" clubs and organized baseball teams etc. Our door sport is the finest thing in the world for the promotion of health and baseball is without a doubt the best game in the world from the standpoint of the spectator as well as the player, but how are kids game of baseball? What harm can they do? I have windows facing the play ground and I would be willing to bet a prize to any boy that can break one of my windows with a bat ball.

La Crosse has sent one player to the Major leagues but he wouldn't be there if the rules now in force had been in force when he was a boy. Kenes played baseball out in the west, on a field street, only about 150 ft. square. Let's take up and be at least as generous to kids as in West Salem, and Lansing and Sparta, and Milwaukee and Chicago, and every other city and hamlet in the United States, not only for the kids' sake, but for our own, so that when the young men who now play on the only team we have in the city are ready to quit the game we will have some one to take their place. No wonder baseball is dead in La Crosse. Let the kids all play ball and the old gray beard will get interested again and they will patronize professional ball and we can have several good teams and enjoy the game like other American cities. If we don't then we will have a generation of boys that have never felt the sting of a baseball bat.

Yours Respectfully, H. N. RUED.

HARVARD DEFEATED BY PENN. IN TRACK MEET ON SATURDAY

Eby and Smalley of Pennsylvania Taking Honors Each

PHILADELPHIA, Pa.—Pennsylvania, the intercollegiate champion, defeated Harvard in a track meet on Franklin field today, 69 3/4 to 47 1/2. Rain swept the oval during the meet and left the field and track boggy and unfit for record time.

Captain Earl Eby and Everett Smalley of Pennsylvania, divided honors, each winning two first places. Eby gave his team ten points in the quarter and half mile, while Smalley did likewise in both hurdles.

Pennsylvanians went through the track events, losing only one first place when Ned Gounlin, Harvard, captured the century dash.

Today's victory is the first Pennsylvania has ever scored against Harvard in a dual meet. Harvard won 140. They were all little sharks, not a fish of any other variety.

HIGH SCHOOL MEN IN WORKOUTS ON THE CINDER PATH

Fifty Men Report for Try-outs in the Various Events Preparatory to Track Meets

TWO WINONA SCHOOLS AND LOCAL HIGH IN MEET

Spring Football Practice to be Introduced on Monday

Despite the cold and rainy weather of the past few days which has been unfavorable for field workouts, the 1921 high school track squad is coming ahead in fine shape and is looking for a successful season on the cinder path is gratifying.

There have been about fifty men trying out for the various positions and a host of newcomers are showing up extremely well. Lack of a good sprinter for short distances as well as two other men for the relay group, may handicap the team somewhat. However, Coach Maeda is recruiting all the promising material and will try to fill in the vacancies.

Capt. Molzahn, Zorob, Paterski and McGonagall will work out for the dashes in addition to the relay. The first meet will be on the team which has arrived in Madison for the state meet last year.

Men Show Up Well
"Mooney" Vondrashek and Zorob are hurrying the weights in fine shape. "Mooney" looking the goods for special distance hurdles hitting a step notch in the high jump. For the 100 there is Tom Chisholm, of last year's inter-class team, and Walter Enkels, a promising looking trotter. The King seems to lack in pole vaulting but there are others with ambitions in this direction.

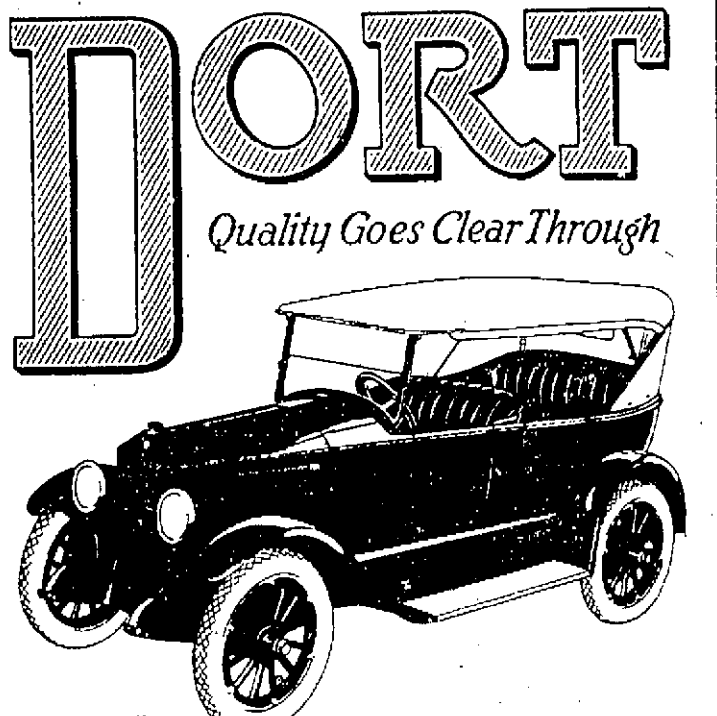

The last track meet of the season will be with Winona State. Winona came off May 7 at the Gopher city. Spring football practice will be started Monday, and a large turnout is expected. The men will be rigged out in track suits and will practice passing, forward passing, and getting away under signals.

Re-Mile Your Dead Tires and Bring Them to Life

Construction of Re-Milers
Re-Milers are hand made the same as all first class tires. They are built on regular tire building forms and each ply of fabric or gum is put on separately and rolled down. One side of the Re-Miler has an endless steel hoop that fits around the rim. This hoop prevents the pulling up or blowing out of the Re-Miler. The opposite side has a built in rubber bead just pliable enough to allow Re-Miler to adjust itself to the casing. The top of the Re-Miler is covered by a tough rubber tread, which acts as a cushion to prevent stone bruises, and if temporarily exposed on account of casing wearing through will give you for the time the same service as a tread on your tires. Being built over tire molds Re-Miler will exactly fit the inside of the casing for which they are made, thereby preventing wrinkles which might otherwise pinch the tube. The outside of the Re-Miler is coated with rubber which vulcanizes itself to the inside of the casing to prevent slipping. The tube is so treated that the tube cannot stick.

Realizing that in all partly worn out tires, or rather tires that the average motorist considers worn out and throws away, there is at least a weak spot.

Our built in blow out patch strengthens this weak spot and makes Re-Miler doubly valuable.

Re-Miler takes 1RE out of tires.

NO TROUBLESOME FLAPS

The above illustration shows the Re-Miler featuring the built-in blow-out patch.

THE RE-MILER

Is the outcome of years of study and use of other inside devices knowing the faults of the ordinary reliner, we have made a tire that we know will give you satisfaction and you can wear all your tires out without the usual repair and trouble.

R—Reliability
E—Economy
M—Milage
I—Investment
L—Long service
R—Removes fear of Tire Trouble

We recommend the placing of Re-Miler in tires run less than 1000 miles. It gives you a tire so reinforced that fabric breaks are impossible.

The chance of punctures is reduced at least 30% and the danger of running the casing flat, which is ruinous to a tire, is eliminated.

PREVENTS BLOWOUTS
Blow-outs are caused by weak spots in your tire. By having a complete reinforcement around your tire blow-outs are prevented.

REIN CUTS
The Re-Miler is especially built to take care of this. Your tire gives way on the sides because the side walls are not strong enough to carry the load. The Re-Miler is so constructed that blow-outs from rim-cuts are absolutely prevented.
